A resource to help youth/young adults with special health care needs make a successful transition to adult living that includes their health and health care.

Transition Health Care Checklist

The Pennsylvania Department of Health southwest regional staff and their community partners recognized a gap in health services for youth with special health care needs. When these youth leave school, they transition from having different or no insurance coverage, from seeing pediatric specialists to searching for adult medical specialists, and from good coverage for medications to having to understand new systems for obtaining medicines. Working with the State Transition Team, agencies, and families, the Transition Health Care Checklist was created to guide youth, families, and professionals during this time of change.

Transition Planning in the Educational System

Where Do I Begin?

Secondary Transition is the process of preparing students for life after high school. This procedure includes participation in post-secondary education or training, employment, and community living. These three areas are often referred to as “post-school outcomes” and are the driving force behind the Individual Education Program (IEP) written for students in high school. Transition planning is legally required in the IEP by age 16; however, thoughtful transition planning can begin at the age of 14 or even in middle school as students and their families begin to explore post-school outcomes. Planning continues through high school as instruction and community experiences support these outcomes. By beginning to discuss transition as early as possible, the IEP team can work with each student and their family to plan for the future. This includes selecting courses of study that will be meaningful and motivating to the student. Throughout the planning process it is important to remember that once a student graduates from high school or reaches age 21, s/he is no longer entitled to services through the educational system and must become eligible for services provided by adult agencies.

What Happens Next?

Transition planning involves a partnership between the student, their family, school-age services and program providers, post-school services and program providers, and local community members that results in higher education, employment, independent living, and community participation. Transition should be viewed as a bridge between school programs and the opportunities of adult life. Effective transition involves the student, their family, and all related community agencies engaging in purposeful planning. This entails recognizing the student’s current strengths, interests, preferences, and needs and imagining what services and supports he or she will need to achieve future success. This Transition Health Care Checklist (pages 5-10), should be used as part of the transition planning process to ensure that a student’s health care needs are recognized and addressed.

What Type of Services Are Available?

The Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE) through the Bureau of Special Education (BSE) and local school districts offer a variety of supports to students, parents, and family members in ensuring a successful transition to post secondary life. These supports include special education teachers, transition coordinators, rehabilitation counselors, guidance counselors, and school health programs. Regionally throughout Pennsylvania are 29 Intermediate Units (IU) each with at least one designated transition coordinator. Information regarding Pennsylvania’s Intermediate Units can be found on the PDE website at www.pde.state.pa.us. The Pennsylvania Training and Technical Assistance Network (PaTTAN) works collaboratively with local school districts and Intermediate Units to provide professional development, technical assistance and information regarding transition projects, products, and activities that promote successful outcomes for transitioning youth. More detailed information on supports and services provided by PaTTAN can be found at www.pattan.net

"How does the individual's health impact the transition activity?"

Introduction:

- Read the Steps for Success
- Review your transition outcome goals that are found in your IEP
- Work through the Transition Health Care Checklist to determine what the individual can do now, what needs to be learned, and what supports may be needed

The following is for PA residents. Here is what we know:

- No Health Insurance - Two out of five college graduates and one-half of high school graduates who do not go on to college will experience a time without health insurance in the first year after graduation (Commonwealth Fund 2003)
- Dropped from Health Insurance - Young adults are often dropped from their parent's policies or public insurance programs at age 19, or when they graduate from college and struggle to find jobs with health benefits. Young adults are far more likely to be uninsured than older adults: 4 of 10 young adults between the ages of 19 and 29 can expect to be uninsured at sometime during the year--twice the rate of adults ages 30 to 64 (Commonwealth Fund 2003)
- Barriers to Getting and Keeping Health Insurance - "Americans with disabilities face a number of distinct barriers in obtaining, maintaining, and using health insurance and in accessing and using health care services. At the same time, Americans with disabilities also confront the barriers, problems, and frustrations with which most Americans routinely struggle in the insurance and health care systems" (National Council on Disability 2002 Annual National Disability Policy: A Progress Report)

Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA)

US DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

<http://www.dol.gov/dol/topic/health-plans/portability.htm>

Consumer Hot Line 1(877)881-6388

or www.insurance.state.pa.us

HIPAA - The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act

- Provides rights and protections for participants and beneficiaries in group health plans, including protection for coverage that limit exclusions for pre-existing conditions
- Allows for opportunities to enroll in or purchase group or special health plans

HIPAA has Implications for Young Adults with Disabilities

- States are required to provide people losing group coverage access to individual insurance regardless of their health status as long as they meet certain criteria. This can help adult children who qualify through their parent's group coverage but may lose eligibility when they reach the age limit
- Young adults with disabilities can apply for individual coverage as a "HIPAA eligible individual" through the Blues
 - Eligible individuals include those who have had insurance for at least 18 months where the most recent coverage was under a group health plan or COBRA (Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1986) coverage
 - Applications must be made within 63 days of losing the group coverage
 - It is critical that the person who has paid the premiums for the insurance request a certificate of coverage for portability from the Benefits office of their company. This proves the person with a disability had insurance
 - The young adult then needs to present this document to their new employer. This will eliminate or reduce the waiting period for pre-existing conditions

COBRA - Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1986

- Allows individuals and their dependent children the right to temporarily continue health coverage at group rates when the employee is laid off, resigns, and sometimes when fired
- Continued coverage will cost more than the normal group rate (COBRA plans include the employer's share and the employee's share of the health plan), but it is less expensive than many individual health plans and provides time to find other health insurance
- The law generally covers group health plans for employers who have 20 or more employees (to include part-time employees) except for plans sponsored by the federal government

Additional Information from www.youthlaw.org

The article, "Establishing Disability For Young Adults" was written for www.youthlaw.org November 3, 2003. The article alerts families to look more deeply into this benefit. This helps them to strategize, therefore limiting interruption or loss of benefits at a time when it is most crucial

- A young adult must show a disability using the adult SSI standard which states that, for adults age 18 or older, SSA defines "disability" as the inability to engage in any substantial, gainful activity by reason of medically determinable physical or mental impairment, which can be expected to last for at least 12 months or result in death
- If a young adult is working, there is the possibility that SSA may determine that the young adult is gainfully employed and therefore is no longer disabled. It is important to have as much documentation as possible to support the claim that the young adult is still disabled even though able to work
- The childhood disability regulations provide a guide to assessing the functional limitations of a young adult. Find common ground between this childhood standard and the adult disability standard that the young adult must meet. Use this information to communicate to SSA the true impact of the functional limitations

Medicaid

Medicaid is a Federal/State program designed to provide comprehensive and quality medical care for low-income families with special emphasis on children, pregnant women, the elderly, the disabled, and parents with dependent children. In Pennsylvania, this process is known as Medical Assistance (MA) because it includes Medicaid as well as benefits that are not part of Medicaid

At age 18:

- Apply for SSI benefits. This can be done either on your own or with the help of the County Assistance Office (CAO)
- After applying, a Disability Advocate Program (DAP) worker will contact you to assist you with your application for SSI
- Provide additional disability documentation if required by SSA
- If SSI denied, complete SSI appeals process working with DAP worker

County Assistance Office (CAO)

- Report all changes to your caseworker. Contact the CAO if unsure of your caseworker's name
- Follow through with the county recertification process once a year
- Indicate on all applications or reapplications that there is a child with a disability in the household. Remind your caseworker when applying or reapplying that you have a child with a special need
- Know how and when to use the ACCESS/Managed Care card
 - Do not destroy your ACCESS/Managed Care card. If a replacement is needed, contact your caseworker
 - If a notice has been received that your Medicaid claim will be closed, appeal within 30 days of the notice date. If you were receiving benefits as a family when Medicaid was closed, be sure to alert the CAO that you have a child with special needs. If additional help is needed, contact Legal Services in your county

Children Receiving Services while Living in their own Home

- Children who are living in their own home and receiving services from the County Children and Youth Agency (CCYA) or Juvenile Probation Office (JPO) will carry their health insurance coverage and receive health care services in the same manner as they did prior to receiving CCYA or JPO services

Children Receiving Services while Living in Out-of-Home Placement

- Children or youth living in out-of-home placement are in the legal custody of the county children and youth agency or under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court
- Out-of-home placement settings include: shelter homes; foster homes; group homes; supervised independent living; residential treatment facilities; child residential facilities; juvenile detention centers; and youth development centers
- When it is determined that a child needs out-of-home placement services, a family service plan and child permanency plan is completed. The ultimate goal is for the youth to have adults in their lives who have made a commitment to care for and support them to the age of maturity and beyond
- While a child or youth is in out-of-home placement, a caseworker or probation officer should work with other appropriate agencies to assist the child or family in planning for transition out of the CCYA/JPO system prior to the youth's discharge

At the Youth's 18th Birthday:

- The youth may return to their own home
- The youth, the youth's attorney, or the attorney who is appointed as the Guardian Ad Litem may petition the court to continue out-of-home placement services in order to complete a course of treatment or educational instruction up to age 21

- Youth remaining in the custody of the CCYA will remain covered under MA while in out-of-home placement
- Prior to the 18th birthday, the youth can follow the suggestions on page 10 and ask for assistance, as needed, to apply for appropriate programs
- If a youth is no longer in out-of-home placement at age 18, the youth must apply or re-apply for the MA program

Joan Kester, CRC, PA Office of Vocational Rehabilitation

Abbie Barwick, Community Systems Development Coordinator for The Special Kids Network, Member of the PA MOU Transition Team for PA Department of Health

The Concern: that youth are leaving school to discover they have no health insurance or doctor and difficulty obtaining medications and treatments. The Population: youth with complex medical conditions who are working with multiple government and private agencies. The Goal: to provide a checklist, resources, and steps to assist youth/young adults and families to make a successful transition to adult living that includes health and health care. The Disparity: people with disabilities are truly a minority population with disparities in obtaining health care due to issues of access, provider availability, income, discrimination, and communication

The History: this effort began in September 2003, in SW Pennsylvania and has grown to involve statewide and national interest

This effort has been facilitated by a core committee:

Carol J. Gettemy, RN, BSN, Special Health Care Needs Consultant, PA DOH in Southwest PA

Larry Klinger, Director of Community Systems Development, The Special Kids Network, Southwest PA

Susanne Durler, Parent/Family Consultant, Children's Hospital, Pittsburgh

Michael Stoehr, Education Consultant, PATTAN, Pittsburgh office, Member of PA MOU Transition Team for the PA Department of Education

Patti Agosti, Parent/Family Consultant, Penn State Children's Hospital, Hershey

Joy Smith, Work Incentives Coordinator AHEDD

Terri Reighard, Associate, Community Systems Development, The Special Kids Network, Southwest PA

The Collaborative Group:

- Listened to families who struggle with questions about access to adult medicine, changes in health care insurance, time lines for change, and employers who do not understand unique health concerns
- Reviewed checklists, literature, Healthy People 2010 Objectives, the March 2002 New Freedom Initiative
- Built on this knowledge
- Then began with the question: Does the individual's health impact on the transition activity?
