

Marine Angler Survey Program

Description: The DEEP, Marine Fisheries Division (MFD) is conducting a survey of marine recreational anglers in order to collect fishing trip information and length measurements on kept and released fish. Anglers will be recruited by DEEP staff to voluntarily report their fishing trip information through a post marked catch card survey. Survey data is used for stock assessment purposes and for managing the marine recreational fishery.

Job Duties/Requirements: The MFD is looking for candidates to fill two six month marine resource assistant positions. Job duties include interacting with the fishing public, distributing catch cards to boat anglers at selected fishing sites along the Connecticut coastline, organizing data sheets, and performing data entry. Additional duties consist of answering questions queried by the public and providing fisheries related information including fishing regulations. Persons applying must possess a valid driver's license, be highly responsible, and make decisions independently.

Pay Rates/Work Hours: Pay rates depending on experience and education range from $11-13 per hour. The work week is based on 35 hours with working weekends and holidays required since most fishing effort occurs during those days (days off are during the week but the work schedule is extremely flexible).
