

Reality Show Casting Opportunities

- Attention Interesting Businesses (NEW)

We're looking for companies and small businesses owned and run by people with strong personalities who are fun to watch and who interact with interesting co-workers and customers. We're especially intrigued by family-operated businesses.

The work of the business should have a strong visual element and ideally involves a level of danger or other significant stakes to the work. Another aspect of a compelling business is that its work features a lot of surprises uncovered throughout the work process, involving finds that might have great value.

If you have heard of a business or individual that fits these parameters, or have a sense that an idea or person would make a great subject for a series, or have any questions, please write me at djacobs7@socal.rr.com
